A Guide to Getting Started
Partnering with parents for over 40 years, Alpha Omega Publications provides families with quality Christian curriculum that makes it easy, enjoyable, and affordable to teach your children in the most important place possible...home.
Starting Your Homeschool Journey Checklist

- PRAY and ask for God’s leading. Homeschooling is a full-time commitment.
- DISCUSS and be in agreement with your spouse or supportive family member.
- CHECK out your state’s homeschooling laws and, if required, file appropriate paperwork prior to the beginning of your school year. (Filing paperwork may take up to 30 – 60 days in most states).
- FIND appropriate curriculum for your child’s grade level. Get informed. Visit homeschooling conventions and homeschool websites to familiarize yourself with products available.
- TEST your child’s skills in main subject areas such as math and reading. AOP offers free placement tests for Monarch, LIFEPAC, and Horizons at aop.com/diagnostic-tests.
- CONTACT homeschool support groups in your area or start your own. You will need help and assistance as you begin, and the expertise of others will encourage you. Find a state-by-state listing at aop.com/community/homeschool-groups.
- PURCHASE art and other school supplies appropriate to your child’s grade.
- RESEARCH opportunities for extracurricular activities like sports and music.
- SCHEDULE your personal activities and appointments around your school day, so they do not interrupt teaching time. Homeschooling is a life-changing endeavor. From now on, you will be doing more things together as a family, including cooking, cleaning, and playing.
