Lighthouse Christian Academy Sees a Bright Future with Ignitia

Ignitia has inspired a small academy in the Ozarks to open a virtual school to further spread God's Word. In 2012, Lighthouse Christian Academy (LCA) adopted Ignitia to open Lighthouse Christian International School. The online school soon gained six students in five states, in addition to the 35 PreK-12 students on campus. LCA and its virtual counterpart serve students from a variety of religious backgrounds and are fully accredited through the National Association of Private Schools.

How Ignitia Helped LCA

- Multimedia. At LCA, Ignitia is highly valued for its visual learning tools. "What we really like are the videos and slides that connect with students," said principal and assistant pastor Jerid Davis.

- Adaptability. Schools can customize the Ignitia curriculum to meet their specific standards. At LCA, for example, any lesson or test that falls below 70 percent is automatically returned to the student for a second try.

- Anytime, Anywhere Access. Ignitia's virtual environment allows LCA to attract students beyond its building. "We want to reach out past our community. That's the reason we wanted to go with Ignitia. It's like an online blackboard. You can sign in from anywhere," Davis said.

- Enhanced Communication. Ignitia's user-friendly messaging system can save schools time in communicating among staff and students. LCA uses the program almost exclusively for communication.

- Complete Package. A self-contained online curriculum, Ignitia "gives the whole classroom setting, gives you the books, gives you the classroom, and meets the needs of any type of student," Davis said.
