God created light and dark.

“In the beginning God created the heaven ...”

Genesis 1:1
Talk about the pictures.

Daylight and darkness are natural phenomena that occur during the 24-hour cycle of the Earth's rotation on its axis. Daylight is characterized by sunlight, which is a natural source of energy and illumination, and it is the period when the Sun is above the horizon. Darkness, on the other hand, occurs when the Sun is below the horizon, and it is the period when the Earth is not illuminated by sunlight.

In the context of the images, the barn and cows symbolize the natural world and the cycle of day and night. The night scene with the sleeping child and the window with stars and the moon represent the concept of darkness and the celestial bodies that guide the passage of time.

These images help illustrate the contrast between day and night, and the importance of natural phenomena in our daily lives.
